MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

On August 12, 2014, Magistrate Judge Hillman issued an order (Dkt. # 294) requiring Plaintiffs and Counterclaim Defendants Fourth Age Limited, Priscilla Mary Anne Reuel Tolkien, as Trustee of the Tolkien Trust, The J.R.R. Tolkien Estate Ltd., Harper Collins Publishers, Ltd., Unwin Hyman Ltd. and George Allen & Unwin (Publishers), Ltd. (collectively, the “Tolkien/HC Parties”) to submit 150 privileged documents to the Court for in camera review (the “Order”). The Order purports to result from a motion to compel production of documents and a supplemented privilege log brought by Defendants and Counterclaim Plaintiffs Warner Bros. Digital Distribution, Inc., Warner Bros. Home Entertainment, Inc., Warner Bros. Consumer Products, Inc., Warner Bros. Interactive Entertainment, Inc., and New Line Productions, Inc. (collectively, “Warner”) and The Saul Zaentz Company (“Zaentz”). The Order is both clearly erroneous and contrary to law for three reasons.

First, the Order grants relief to Warner and Zaentz that was not requested in their motion to compel and about which they never sought to meet and confer, much less litigate. The only relief requested by Warner and Zaentz was (1) an order compelling the Tolkien/HC Parties to provide a supplemental privilege log, and (2) an order deeming all of the Tolkien/HC Parties' privileges waived as a result of having provided an allegedly inadequate log. All of that relief was denied. Nevertheless, the Court, sua sponte, issued the Order requiring the Tolkien/HC Parties to submit 150 of their privileged documents for in camera review. The Tolkien/HC Parties never had the opportunity to litigate the propriety of an in camera review of any documents, let alone the 150 documents specified by Warner and Zaentz. For this reason alone, the Order should be reversed.

Second, the Order fails to provide any justification for requiring the Tolkien/HC Parties to reveal their privileged information. In camera review should

1 only be required in extraordinary circumstances where the moving party makes a 2 detailed factual showing which demonstrates good cause. Specifically, the moving 3 party is required to show that an in camera review of the documents is likely to 4 prove that the privilege does not apply and that other factors support the resulting 5 intrusion into the privilege. Here, the Magistrate acted sua sponte in ordering the in 6 camera production and neither Warner nor Zaentz ever made anything remotely 7 close to the required showing. Moreover, the Magistrate never considered the 8 relevant factors before ordering the in camera submission. Accordingly, the Order 9 is contrary to law.

10 Third, the Order violates the discovery cutoff set by the District Court in its 11 scheduling order. The Order was issued on August 12, 2014, two full weeks after 12 the July 29, 2014 discovery cutoff. It is generally accepted that all discovery 13 motions must be heard and decided prior to the discovery cutoff. By issuing a 14 discovery order two weeks after the discovery cutoff, the Magistrate improperly 15 modified the Court's scheduling order by extending the discovery cutoff for certain 16 discovery. For this reason as well, the Order is contrary to law.

17 Each of the foregoing reasons, standing alone, provides a sufficient basis to 18 overturn the Order. Taken together, they present a compelling case for reversal.
 19 Accordingly, the Tolkien/HC Parties respectfully request that the Court overturn the 20 Order and direct that the Magistrate evaluate their privilege claims solely based on 21 the information contained in the Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege log.

22

23 II. FACTUAL SUMMARY

24 This lawsuit arises out of a dispute over the scope of merchandising rights in 25 and to Professor J.R.R. Tolkien's seminal literary works The Lord of the Rings and 26 The Hobbit (the "Tolkien Works"). In 1969, the predecessors in interest to the 27 Tolkien/HC Parties granted to certain of defendants' predecessors in interest limited 28 rights to use the Tolkien Works in connection with "articles of tangible personal

1 property.” In the same 1969 agreement, the predecessors in interest to the 2 Tolkien/HC Parties explicitly reserved to themselves “all rights and/or interests not 3 herein specifically granted.” In this lawsuit, the Tolkien/HC Parties contend that 4 defendants exceeded the scope of the limited merchandise rights by, among other 5 things, licensing and selling (1) gambling games based on the Tolkien Works, (2) 6 “intangible” video games based on the Tolkien Works – i.e., video games that are 7 delivered otherwise than by way of physical media such as DVD or cartridge, 8 including (but not limited to) games delivered by way of electronic download, 9 mobile telephone networks or social media websites (the “Intangible Video 10 Games”), and (3) the right to use trademarks based on the Tolkien Works in 11 connection with services, such as restaurants, hotels and theme parks.

12 At the outset of discovery, the parties jointly agreed that, given the enormous 13 scope of the document production likely to occur in the case, the burden of 14 preparing privilege logs likely outweighed the benefit to be obtained from those 15 logs. Haye Decl. ¶ 2. Notwithstanding this agreement, after the parties had 16 produced hundreds of thousands of pages of documents, Warner sought an order 17 compelling the Tolkien/HC Parties to produce a privilege log. Haye Decl., ¶ 3. On 18 March 24, 2014, the Magistrate ordered that all parties produce privilege logs by no 19 later than April 15, 2014 – the date of the discovery cutoff at that time. Dkt. # 135; 20 Haye Decl., ¶ 3.

21 On April 11, 2014, the parties stipulated to continue the discovery cutoff 22 until July 29, 2014 and to extend the time to produce the privilege logs until April 23 30, 2014. Dkt. # 151; Haye Decl., ¶ 4. Pursuant to a further order of the 24 Magistrate, the date for production of privilege logs was extended again until May 25 14, 2014. Dkt. # 170; Haye Decl., ¶ 5. On that date, all parties exchanged privilege 26 logs. Haye Decl., ¶ 6.

27 On June 13, 2014, Warner sent a letter seeking to meet and confer regarding 28 the sufficiency of the Tolkien/HC Parties’ privilege log descriptions. Haye Decl., ¶

1 7; Dkt. #243, Exh. 1. Warner's meet and confer letter only requested that a 2 supplemental log be prepared providing certain additional information that 3 Warner contended was necessary to evaluate the claims of privilege. Dkt. #243, 4 Exh. 1. Warner specifically stated that it was not, at that time, seeking to 5 challenge any of the privilege assertions on the Tolkien/HC Parties' log. Id., n. 1.
 6 The parties subsequently discussed the alleged deficiencies in the Tolkien/HC 7 Parties' log over the telephone and neither Warner nor Zaentz ever challenged the 8 propriety of any of the privilege objections. Haye Decl., ¶ 9.

9 On June 26, 2014, Warner and Zaentz served the Tolkien/HC Parties with a 10 Joint Stipulation on a motion to compel a supplemental privilege log (the 11 "Motion"). Haye Decl., ¶ 10. The Motion did not seek in camera review of any 12 specified documents. Dkt. #242-1; Haye Decl., ¶ 11. Rather, the Motion simply 13 argued that the Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege log was inadequate and should be 14 supplemented. The Motion additionally sought an order deeming all of the 15 Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege objections waived as a result of the inadequate log.
 16 Dkt. #242-1. The Tolkien/HC Parties opposed the Motion on the grounds that their 17 privilege log was sufficient as a matter of law and that neither Warner nor Zaentz 18 had ever sought to meet and confer regarding the production of privileged 19 documents. Id.

20 On July 22, 2014, the Magistrate issued an interim order on the Motion (the 21 "Interim Order"). Dkt. # 280. In the Interim Order, the Magistrate ruled that the 22 Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege log "is sufficient" and therefore denied Warner and 23 Zaentz's request for a supplemental privilege log. Id. The Magistrate then 24 permitted Warner and Zaentz to each identify 75 documents on the Tolkien/HC 25 Parties' privilege log that they wanted the Magistrate to review in camera. Id. The 26 Interim Order did not set a deadline by which Warner and Zaentz needed to identify 27 those documents, nor did it require that the Tolkien/HC Parties do anything. Id.
 28 The Magistrate indicated that after reviewing the lists submitted by Warner and 1 Zaentz, the Magistrate would “then rule on Issues 3[, 4] and 5.” Id.

2 The discovery cutoff passed on July 29, 2014 without Warner and Zaentz 3 providing the lists of documents permitted by the Interim Order. Thereafter, on 4 August 4, 2014, five days after the discovery cutoff, Warner and Zaentz each 5 submitted the lists permitted by the Interim Order. Dkt. #285. On August 5, 2014, 6 the Tolkien/HC Parties filed a response to those lists, explaining why a further 7 review of those documents would be improper. Dkt., # 289.

8 On August 12, 2014, the Magistrate issued the Order, which the Tolkien/HC 9 Parties now challenge. In the Order, the Magistrate clarified that he intends to 10 “substantively review in camera a sampling of documents.” Dkt. #294, p. 1. The 11 Magistrate further found, without explanation, that there “is justification for a 12 limited in camera substantive review of the selected documents.” Id. Accordingly, 13 the Magistrate ordered the Tolkien/HC Parties to submit the identified documents 14 for in camera review within ten (10) days. Id. On August 19, 2014, pursuant to the 15 Tolkien/HC Parties’ request, the Magistrate stayed the Order pending the outcome 16 of this motion for review. Dkt. #299.

17

18 III. ARGUMENT

19 A. Standards for Review of Magistrate’s Order.

20 A Magistrate Judge has authority to hear matters that are not dispositive of a 21 claim or defense, including discovery motions. Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 72. A 22 Magistrate Judge’s order on non-dispositive matters, such as discovery motions, 23 can be reversed if it is “clearly erroneous or contrary to law.” Green v. Baca, 219
 24 F.R.D. 485, 488-89 (C.D. Cal. 2003) (quoting 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A)); see Bhan
 25 v. NME Hospitals, Inc., 929 F.2d 1404, 1414 (9th Cir. 1991). “The clearly 26 erroneous standard, which applies to a magistrate judge’s findings of fact, is 27 ‘significantly deferential, requiring a definite and firm conviction that a mistake has 28 been committed.’” Green, 219 F.R.D. at 489 (quoting Concrete Pipe & Prods. v.

1 Constr. Laborers Pension Trust, 508 U.S. 602, 623 (1993)). The contrary to law 2 standard “permits independent review of purely legal determinations by the 3 magistrate judge.” Green, 219 F.R.D. at 489 (quoting F.D.I.C. v. Fidelity & Deposit
 4 Co. of Maryland, 196 F.R.D. 375, 378 (S.D.Cal.2000)).

5 Here, the Order contains no findings of fact. Instead, the Order makes a legal 6 determination that an in camera inspection of specified documents contained on the 7 Tolkien/HC Parties’ privilege log is justified and orders the Tolkien/HC Parties to 8 provide those documents. Accordingly, the Order should be reviewed under the 9 “contrary to law” standard.

10 B. The Order Purports to Grant Relief Which Was Never Requested 11 and Which Warner Specifically Stated it Was Not Seeking.

12 Neither Warner nor Zaentz ever requested an in camera inspection of any 13 documents contained on the Tolkien/HC Parties’ privilege log. To the contrary, the 14 Motion sought an order deeming all of the Tolkien/HC Parties’ privilege claims 15 waived with respect to: (1) the Tolkien Parties’ outside counsel, Cathleen 16 Blackburn and Steven Maier; (2) the common interest privilege between the 17 Tolkien Parties and HarperCollins; and (3) documents protected by attorney work 18 product. Dkt. # 242-1, Issues 3–5. The basis for these sweeping requests was that 19 the Tolkien/HC Parties’ privilege log was purportedly inadequate. Id. Notably, 20 consistent with Warner’s written representation during the meet and confer process, 21 neither Warner nor Zaentz ever sought to challenge any individual claims of 22 privilege.¹ Id.

23 The Tolkien/HC Parties responded only to the relief requested in the Motion.
 24 In this regard, the Tolkien/HC Parties explained that their privilege log was 25

26 ¹ Because Warner and Zaentz failed to meet and confer regarding any specific 27 assertions of privilege contained in the Tolkien/HC Parties’ privilege log, their 28 request for any relief beyond a supplemented privilege log should have been denied for failure to comply with Local Rule 37-1.

1 sufficient to support the claims of privilege and that there could be no wholesale 2 waiver of privilege even if the Magistrate ordered a supplemental log. Dkt. # 242-3 1, pp. 21-29). The Tolkien/HC Parties did not address the propriety of an in 4 camera review, nor did they address the propriety of the privilege objections with 5 respect to any particular documents.

6 The Magistrate agreed with the Tolkien/HC Parties that their log was 7 sufficient. Dkt. #280, p. 1, Issue 1. The Magistrate therefore denied the portions of 8 the Motion in which Warner and Zaentz requested a supplemental privilege log. Id.
 9 This should have ended the analysis. The relief requested by Warner and Zaentz in 10 Issues 3, 4 and 5 in the Motion was based entirely on the assumption that the 11 Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege log was inadequate. See e.g., Dkt. # 242-1 at p. 21 12 ("Given the absence of Court-ordered information 'to enable the Parties and the 13 Court to adequately assess the claim of privilege,' see Lens Decl. Ex. 15, Warner 14 and Zaentz respectfully request the Court to order the Tolkien/HC Parties to 15 produce all communications between the Tolkiens and Ms. Blackburn or Mr.
 16 Maier."); p. 30 ("Because of this failure to adequately describe withheld 17 documents—as required by the Court in response to Warner's motion—Warner and 18 Zaentz therefore respectfully request that the Court order the Tolkien/HC Parties to 19 produce all documents subject to only a common interest claim..."); p. 39 ("The 20 Tolkien/HC Parties do not describe which prospect of litigation or specific claim 21 prompted the creation of any of the documents in the log, and thus fail to provide 22 the information required by the Court's March 24, 2014 Order [to justify the work 23 product objections]"). Given that the Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege log was 24 determined to be sufficient, all further relief sought by the Motion should have been 25 denied.

26 Notwithstanding the fact that the Magistrate denied all of the relief actually 27 sought by Warner and Zaentz in the Motion, the Magistrate sua sponte offered 28 Warner and Zaentz the opportunity to submit lists of documents they wanted the 1 Magistrate to review in camera. To make matters worse, even though Warner and 2 Zaentz had never sought that relief and had never given the Tolkien/HC Parties an 3 opportunity to address the legal merits of such a request, the Magistrate's Interim 4 Order also failed to give the Tolkien/HC Parties an opportunity to address the 5 merits of any contemplated in camera review. Notably, the Interim Order did not 6 require the Tolkien/HC Parties to do anything at all. Then, after receiving Warner's 7 and Zaentz's lists, the Magistrate simply ordered that the Tolkien/HC Parties 8 disclose their privileged documents, without any further legal or factual argument.

 9 In this way, the Order deprived the Tolkien/HC Parties of notice and an opportunity 10 to be heard regarding the propriety of an in camera review of their privileged 11 documents. See e.g., Norse v. City of Santa Cruz, 629 F.3d 966, 971-972 (9th Cir.
 12 2010) (Due process requires that court must give notice and an opportunity to be 13 heard before issuing a sua sponte order granting summary judgment); Navellier v.
 14 Sletten, 262 F.3d 923, 943 (9th Cir. 2001) (Due process requires that court must 15 give notice and an opportunity to be heard before issuing sua sponte discovery 16 sanction order).

17 Because the Order provides relief that was never requested and about which 18 the Tolkien/HC Parties never had an opportunity to be heard, the Order should be 19 reversed.

20 C. The Order is Without Legal and Factual Support.

21 “While it is perhaps somewhat of a hyperbole to refer to the attorney-client 22 privilege as ‘sacred,’ it is clearly one which our judicial system has carefully 23 safeguarded with only a few specific exceptions.” Mitchell v. Superior Court, 37 24 Cal.3d 591, 600 (1984). The fundamental purpose behind the privilege “is to 25 safeguard the confidential relationship between clients and their attorneys so as to 26 promote full and open discussion of the facts and tactics surrounding legal matters.” 27 Fidelity Nat. Financial, Inc. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co., 2014 WL 1393743, at 28 *10 (S.D. Cal. April 9, 2014) (internal quotation marks omitted). As such, “the 1 importance of protecting . . . communication between attorney and client . . . should 2 not be lightly disregarded.” Genentech, Inc. v. Insmed Inc., 442 F.Supp.2d 838, 845

 3 (N.D. Cal. 2006); see Infor Global Solutions (Michigan), Inc. v. St. Paul Fire &

4 Marine Ins. Co., 2009 WL 2390174, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 3, 2009) (“[L]oss of the 5 attorney-client privilege in a high stakes, hard-fought litigation is a severe sanction 6 and can lead to serious prejudice.”) (internal quotation marks omitted).

7 Because of this strong public policy, an in camera review is a “generally 8 disfavored” remedy. Newport Pac. Inc. v. Cnty. of San Diego, 200 F.R.D. 628, 633
 9 (S.D. Cal. 2001); see OXY Resources California LLC v. Superior Court, 115 10 Cal.App.4th 874, 895 (2004) (“In camera review of privileged documents is 11 generally prohibited because ‘the privilege is absolute and disclosure may not be 12 ordered, without regard to relevance, necessity or any particular circumstances 13 peculiar to the case’”) (quoting Gordon v. Superior Court, 55 Cal.App.4th 1546, 14 1557 (1997)); Diamond State Ins. v. Rebel Oil Co., 157 F.R.D. 691, 700 (D. Nev.
 15 1994) (“In camera review is generally disfavored.”); PHE, Inc. v. Dep’t of Justice, 16 983 F.2d 248, 253 (D.C. Cir. 1993) (“[I]n camera review is generally disfavored”).
 17 This is because “it is neither customary nor necessary to review the contents of the 18 communication in order to determine whether the privilege applies as the court’s 19 factual determination does not involve the nature of the communications or the 20 effect of disclosure but rather the existence of the relationship at the time the 21 communication was made, the intent of the client and whether the communication 22 emanates from the client.” Cornish v. Superior Court, 209 Cal.App.3d 467, 480 23 (1989).

24 To this end, “a court should not conduct such a review solely because a party 25 begs it to do so.” Newport Pacific, 200 F.R.D. at 633 (quoting Nishika v. Fuji Photo 26 Film Co., 181 F.R.D. 465, 466 (D. Nev. 1998)); see Diamond State, 157 F.R.D. at 27 700 n.3 (“a district court should not conduct in camera review solely because a 28 party begs it to do so”). Rather, because in camera review is an “intrusion,” a court

1 must make sure that undertaking such a review is “justified.” In re Grand Jury 2 Investigation, 974 F.2d 1068, 1074 (9th Cir. 1992).

3 In order to determine whether an in camera review is “justified,” the 4 Magistrate was required to follow the two-part test established by the Supreme 5 Court in United States v. Zolin, 491 U.S. 554, 572 (1989). First, to the extent they 6 sought in camera review, Warner and Zaentz were required to make a threshold 7 showing of a good-faith belief that in camera review of the documents in question 8 may reveal evidence to establish their claim that the documents are not privileged.
 9 See id. Second, to the extent Warner and Zaentz could successfully make that 10 showing, the court was required to consider whether it is appropriate to conduct the 11 in camera review based on a number of factors, including volume of materials, 12 relative importance to the case, and the likelihood of establishing the defense. See 13 id; Genentech, Inc. v. Insmed Inc., 234 F.R.D.667, 671 (N.D. Cal. 2006).²

14 Bare allegations alone will not satisfy the Zolin standard. Instead, the “party 15 seeking the review must make a factual showing sufficient to support a reasonable 16 good faith belief that the review will reveal evidence that is not privileged.” 17 Newport Pacific Inc., 200 F.R.D. at 633 (emphasis added) (internal quotation marks 18 omitted); see Vasudevan Software, Inc. v. Microstrategy Inc., 2013 WL 1366041, at 19 *2 (N.D. Cal. April 3, 2013) (“in camera review must have a sufficient factual basis 20 before the court will intrude into the privacy of the party asserting the privilege”).
 21 Even then, the court “must use its sound discretion to determine whether in camera 22 review is appropriate under the facts and circumstances of the particular case.”
 23 Diamond State Ins. 157 F.R.D. at 700 n.3.

24 The Order demonstrably does not satisfy the Zolin standard. To begin with,

25 ² Although the Zolin court created the two-part test in the context of the crime-fraud 26 exception, see 491 U.S. at 572, the Ninth Circuit has held that “the standard 27 established in Zolin for crime-fraud in camera review applies equally well when a 28 party seeks in camera review to contest assertions of the privilege.” In re Grand Jury Investigation, 974 F.2d at 1074.

1 because Warner and Zaentz never even sought in camera review, they certainly 2 never made any factual showing whatsoever that in camera review of the 3 documents contained in their lists are likely to establish that the privilege does not 4 apply. To the contrary, the evidence presented in connection with the Motion 5 demonstrated that Steven Maier and Cathleen Blackburn are outside counsel to the 6 Tolkien Parties who provide predominantly, if not exclusively, legal advice and that 7 the Tolkien Parties and the Harper Collins parties are joint owners of property and 8 therefore have a common interest in obtaining common legal advice. Dkt., #s 242-9 3, 242-4 and 242-5. As such, there is absolutely no reasons to believe that an in 10 camera review will reveal any non-privileged documents. The absence of any 11 factual showing whatsoever that these documents are likely to not be privileged 12 demonstrates that in camera review is not permitted as a matter of law.

13 In re Grand Jury Investigation is instructive on this point. In that case, the 14 Ninth Circuit affirmed a district court's decision to reject a party's request for in 15 camera review, explaining:

16 In this case, the [defendant's] privilege log and accompanying 17 affidavits are sufficient to establish that the attorney-client privilege 18 applies to the eleven withheld documents. Thus, the [plaintiff] must 19 establish a sufficient factual basis for the court to conduct an in 20 camera inspection. The [plaintiff] has failed to provide an adequate 21 factual showing to allow review. Moreover, even if the [plaintiff] had 22 provided a sufficient factual basis to support such a good faith belief, 23 we would not find that the district court abused its discretion.

24 Therefore, the court did not err in refusing to conduct a review of the 25 documents.

26 974 F.2d at 1075. Here, the Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege log and evidence 27 establish that the documents sought to be reviewed are, in fact, privileged. Just as 28 in In re Grand Jury Investigation, the absence of any factual showing whatsoever

1 as to the need for an in camera review demonstrates that the Order is contrary to 2 law.

3 Further, the Magistrate never satisfied his obligation to consider the relevant 4 factors in the second part of the Zolin analysis. The Magistrate was required to 5 consider factors such as the volume of materials, the relative importance of the 6 documents to the case and the likelihood that the documents may not be privileged.
 7 Zolin, 491 U.S. at 572. Because the Magistrate acted sua sponte and never offered 8 the parties the opportunity to address the propriety of in camera review, none of 9 these factors were ever considered.

10 More importantly, because the Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege log is sufficient 11 to establish a prima facie claim of privilege, Warner and Zaentz bear the burden to 12 show that these factors support an in camera review. See e.g., Bank of America, 13 N.A. v. Superior Court of Orange County, 151 Cal.Rptr.3d 526, 544 (Cal. Ct. App.
 14 2013) (once party claiming privilege has established the prima facie elements of the 15 privilege – a communication between an attorney and a client – party seeking 16 production bears burden of proving the privilege does not apply); McAdam v. State
 17 Nat. Ins. Co., Inc., --- F. Supp. 2d ---, 2014 WL 1614515, *2 (S.D. Cal. 2014)
 18 (same). Yet, they have offered no evidence or argument that any of the listed 19 documents are important to the case or have any likelihood of helping them present 20 a defense. Moreover, they certainly have offered no basis to believe that the 21 privilege asserted on the Tolkien/HC Parties' privilege log does not apply. As 22 such, the Magistrate had no basis on which to order that the documents be reviewed 23 in camera.

24 Accordingly, the Order requiring the Tolkien/HC Parties to submit 25 documents for in camera review does not comply with established Supreme Court 26 precedent, is therefore contrary to law and should be reversed.

27 D. The Order Violates the Discovery Cutoff.

28 Motions to compel discovery ordinarily must be filed sufficiently in advance

1 of the discovery cutoff so that they may be heard and decided prior to the discovery
 2 cutoff. See, Days Inn Worldwide, Inc. v. Sonia Investments, 237 FRD 395, 398 3 (ND TX 2006) (motion heard after the discovery cutoff was denied as untimely).
 4 Here, the Motion was set for hearing on the day before the discovery cutoff. The 5 Magistrate issued the Interim Order before the discovery cut-off. However, the 6 Interim Order only resolved certain issues and took other issues under submission.
 7 Warner and Zaentz then waited nearly two weeks to provide the list of documents 8 authorized by the Interim Order. That list was provided 5 days after the discovery 9 cut-off. Dkt. #285; Haye Decl., ¶ 4. The Magistrate then waited another eight (8) 10 days before issuing the Order. Dkt. #294. Accordingly, the Order violates the 11 discovery cutoff and should be reversed on that basis.³

13 IV. CONCLUSION

14 For all of the foregoing reasons, the Tolkien/HC Parties respectfully request 15 that the District Court reverse the Magistrate and set aside the Order as both clearly 16 erroneous and contrary to law.

26 ³ As set forth in Days Inn, there are certain circumstances in which the court may 27 consider discovery motions filed and/or heard after the discovery cutoff. 237 FRD 28 at 398. Not only are those circumstances inapplicable here, no showing has been made to justify issuing the Order after the discovery cutoff in this case.
